LETTER FROM THE PUBLISHER

Fall 2019

Why Pilot Point Guide?

As an Art Historian, I feel strong connections to certain places. It seems that like-minded people are like moths drawn to the same candle. In this case, it is Pilot Point. It is an area brimming with talented and creative people who open up their arms and welcome you in. Being surrounded by creativity sparks even more inspiration within oneself. I think this is why we have such unique businesses and activities in the Pilot Point area.

That creative spirit is why I purchased a building right outside of the historic district several years ago and knew someday it would house my office, despite its small stature. It is big enough to let me get creative and that is really all I need.

Pilot Point Guide is intended to be a feel-good magazine. The sole purpose of the publication is to highlight the beauty, talent and charm of the town we are blessed to be a part of. It is a noninvasive way to share information and bring this amazing community closer together. You can pick up a Pilot Point Guide and read an article or look at an area advertiser and it will not show up on your social media pages for weeks to come. It is a private indulgence.

When we spun off Pilot Point Guide from 380Guide and 380News it was out of a desire to focus tightly on a unique and welcoming community, to highlight the Pilot Point area in articles and images that are micro-local. Our desire is to emphasize all of the amazing things we have to do, and interesting people we have to meet, right in our own backyard. I hope that you enjoy reading Pilot Point Guide as much as we enjoy creating it.

We want you to be a part of and feel connected to your local magazine. Remember, you can send us your Around Town and You Can Take it With You photos at any time. Just email us the digital image and tell us where you are or what you are doing. Our email is Admin@380Guide.com.

Happy Bonnie and Clyde Days!

Planning the Remembrance You Lived For

By Jodie Linton-Prickett

Who knew planning your funeral could be entertaining and educational? Recently I attended a dinner hosted by Cindy and Terri Slay and their longtime colleague, Charlotte Chism Waldrum, at World Famous Mom's downtown Aubrey. I didn't go as an attendee, but as the photographer, but I was so happy I went. Unexpectedly, I walked away with a wealth of knowledge.

Before dinner they spoke gracefully and briefly about the benefits of planning your own funeral and shared information that I never would have known, unless otherwise confronted with the loss of a loved one. He spoke in such a calming way that you felt at peace looking at your own mortality. How he was able to combine lightheartedness and a bit of humor to such a serious subject bordered on an art form. When the dinner arrived he took a break and everyone ate their meal. The evening ended with a short discussion about cemeteries followed with an opportunity to ask questions. Several attendees had questions and Slay answered them impeccably.

When my grandfather passed away, he was conscious of his family that he was leaving behind. He made all of the arrangements needed to take the burden off of us. In the moment I did not realize what an amazing gift that was, due to overwhelming grief. After healing, I realized that it was his final altruistic act. I was thankful for his forward thinking, and I want to give the same gift to my family.

After leaving the dinner, I felt that I needed to start planning for my final adventure into the afterlife. In most cases going to your final destination is a spontaneous journey, so it is never too early to start making arrangements.

Since 1986, the Slay family has been assisting area families with their funeral needs. "We provide a special place where loved ones can be remembered. We understand that every person is special and unique, "says Slay, "Therefore, we feel that their life should be honored in the same way. The details and those "special touches" that are added to arrangements are important to you and your family, and we are here to help guide you through this process. Our staff is dedicated to providing professional attention to detail and quality service. We believe in caring for your family as our own to ensure your comfort and ease during this difficult time."

The Slay family has been blessed with the ability to walk you through planning for something none of us want to think about. They have the knowledge, the integrity and the compassion that is needed to guide you through end of life decisions.

REASONS TO PRE-PLAN YOUR FUNERAL:

PEACE OF MIND

Many who have undergone the emotional strain of arranging a funeral within hours of losing a loved one have made the choice to pre-plan their own funeral. Doing so lifts the burden from their loved ones by relieving decision-making pressure at a time of grief and emotional stress.

PERSONAL CHOICE

Funeral arrangements are a deeply personal choice. Pre-planning provides you with the time needed to make practical, detailed decisions that reflect your standards, lifestyle, taste and budget. And we assure you and your family that the choices you make will be carried out as planned.

LOWER COSTS

When you finalize your plan, we can advise you of the total cost. You do not have to set aside funds for your plan, but doing so protects you against escalating funeral costs. By locking in today's funeral costs and ensuring that the necessary funds are set aside, you help relieve yourself of unnecessary future worry and your survivors of an unexpected expense.

Concert Brewing for the Victorian Piano Festival at Central Christian Church

By Marie-Pierre Ware

Francis Vidil with the public after inaugural concert last May

It is never too early to start a good brew: the Victorian Piano Festival will hold its second benefit concert for Central Christian Church, 201 E Liberty Street, Pilot Point, Saturday, October 26th at 7 p.m. Half of the ticket proceeds will go again to the church's maintenance building fund. The church no longer holds services and the historical building must be preserved. Francis Vidil, internationally known pianist and Pilot Point transplant will play Halloween music to entertain the crowd. He will also improvise to the delight of his local audience.

Last May's inaugural concert's proceeds covered the church's insurance for an entire year. This allowed the church board to use funds to restore the outside of the 19th-century-style building that had been badly damaged by hail a few years back. The Christian Central Church is a spectacular example of a turn-of-the-century amphitheater seating style allowing privileged viewing and listening for all. Gathering enthusiastic community support for this gracious and symbolic building's preservation, the May inaugural concert was totally sold out.

For this upcoming Halloween concert, organizers are asking the ticket purchasers to attend in a costume of their choice ....and keep any tall hats on their knees during the concert! They will be proposed to participate in a panoramic concert hall picture with Francis Vidil! (The costumes are required to be modest and appropriate given the contemplative nature of the building.). A gathering place for an after-concert celebration with the artist and the costumed public will be disclosed soon. The event is open seating. The tickets will be available again on Ticketspice for $10 and $20 starting mid-September. Tickets will be $25 at the door. A Facebook platform will soon be up for followers!

Also, the concert organizers are looking for event sponsors whose donations will go entirely to the Central Christian Church's maintenance building fund. Contact Marie-Pierre Ware via text or phone for further information at: 972-467-5271.

Lake Ray Roberts Rotary Club to Partner with SHELTERBOX

By Linda Bullwinkle, President

Lake Ray Roberts Rotary Club to Partner with SHELTERBOX at Bonnie and Clyde Days, October 12, in Pilot Point.

Rotary International is proud to be a Project Partner with ShelterBox disaster relief, further strengthening a global circle of friendship. The partnership enables Rotarians to take action by connecting their own communities directly with disaster-affected communities around the world.

The LRRRC will be highlighting an actual, livable Shelter Box to raise awareness and funds to support Shelter Boxes in areas of disasters throughout the year. The local Rotary Club is committed to providing funds for one Shelter Box and is working to raise $1,000 to fund another which would provide a family with a livable shelter and the tools they need to recover from a disaster.

SHELTERBOX INFORMATION

ShelterBox is made up of people who believe in shelter as a human right – that shelter from the chaos of disaster and conflict is vital.

When people are plunged into crisis, normality is suspended. But good, quality shelter can cut through the chaos. ShelterBox provides the resources that enable people to rebuild homes and transform their lives.

They do things differently. ShelterBox started as a Rotary Club project in Cornwall, UK and have grown to make a big impact across the world. They don't follow the crowd – they've carved their own path that leads straight to the families they support.

The SHELTERBOX Pledge

We are impatient to see a world where no family is left without shelter when disaster strikes. This drives us to transform the support of our donors, fundraisers and volunteers into the hope and power of families all over the world - the power to rebuild homes, lives and communities.

Our impatience leads to determination. We will do whatever it takes to ensure that no family goes without shelter.

We put families first. The commitment of our supporters enables us to provide emergency shelter and tools for families robbed of their homes by conflict and natural disaster.

ShelterBox works hard to understand the impact of each emergency and the need this creates within individual communities. The equipment and support provided, whatever shape it takes, gives people the hope and the power to transform their own lives. ShelterBox has provided over 70,000 families with emergency shelter and tools over the past seven years. They have recently been nominated for the 2019 Nobel Peace Price for their humanitarian efforts.

SUPER DUTY FANS

The brand new Super Duty Fan is the hottest new product for cooling hot buildings! And better yet, it is a local family-owned company based in Pilot Point, Texas.

The owners Phillip and Kelly Eggers have been active in the equine industry, as well as aviation and livestock, they have seen many different farm and industrial operations in numerous states like Florida, Kentucky, Kansas, Iowa, Missouri, California, and of course Texas. They saw many applications for fan uses in these structures, and the common need for something that works better and safer. The first product designed and sold by Euclid Design was The Original Windmill Ceiling Fan in 2014, (www.windmillceilingfans.com) which has proven to be very popular across the United States and Canada.

While working with customers for the Windmill Fan, they received numerous inquiries from people looking for a better industrial ceiling fan for their industrial and agricultural building needs. It was this frequent request that spurred the design of the Super Duty Fans. The demanding requirements of agricultural conditions, and the scale of large buildings for manufacturing and warehousing purposes necessitated a fan that could consistently perform the job of moving massive amounts of air safely and efficiently. In addition, it had to offer value to make it affordable for the masses, unlike the expensive HVLS fans costing thousands of dollars. Lastly, why not fix the common problems with fans like sagging wooden blades, short lifespan motors, and intimidating installations, not to mention deafening noise levels and dangerous large metal blades spinning exposed above workers and livestock. These concerns and shortcomings were addressed with the design of the Super Duty Fans, and many utility patents and trademarks are pending to protect the design.

The result of this meticulous design work is now available with the Super Duty Fans (www.superdutyfans.com).

There are three sizes available in the lineup, each with the common features that make them so popular. They each needed to move big air, so the motors are powerful and the blades are shrouded for maximum airflow. They needed to be quiet, so they are all belt-driven and loaded with fine details so the only noise you hear is the actual air movement and not vibrations. They needed to last a long time, so everything is either powder-coated, stainless steel, or zinc-plated for corrosion resistance. The motors are made in the USA and enclosed to keep out contaminants that will slow them and lead to failure. To avoid the common problem of fan blade failure due to stress cracks, the blades are made with Krupp stainless steel from Germany, the best available. To easily install the fans, they come with four nylon straps with a loop on each end, which attaches to the ceiling and the four fan eyebolts. Each fan is safe with an OSHA safety screen on both sides of the blades, and a shroud to protect against objects hitting the blades, while the mounting straps allow the fan to give if hit, instead of breaking like stationary fans.

Industrial ceiling fans are the best way to cool a large area, but they also have a special obligation for safety since they are operating above valuable objects like people, livestock, and equipment. Super Duty Fans are the safe way to circulate air from above. In addition, the design of the airflow pattern provides a funnel-shaped airflow to cover a large area, instead of simply blasting the area directly below the fan. The shroud is the secret to many of the special qualities of the Super Duty Fans, and if you think about it you will realize that any serious fan application uses a shroud design, like vehicle radiator fans, nuclear reactors, and HVAC applications. Serious fans have shrouds.

Phil and Kelly are excited to see all the placements for this new fan, and they feel they are on a mission to minimize the devastating effects of working in the heat. Dehydration, heat exhaustion, and exposure can be minimized or prevented with the use of effective fans. In addition, good air circulation can improve productivity, employee retention, and wellness. For air conditioned buildings, Super Duty Fans provide a cooling effect at a higher temperature, so you can turn up the thermostat by about seven degrees for the same feels-like temperature, and save thousands on the electric bill. A good industrial ceiling fan is a win-win tool for everyone.

Deanie Deal Sings from the Heart and Leaves a Song in Yours

By Jodie Linton-Prickett

Deanie Deal is a soulful musician that sings from the heart. If you are from the area you have probably encountered her at some point. If you have met her it wouldn't surprise me if you told me she was singing when you did. Anyone who has been around her for long knows she is in her element when she is around music. If you haven't met her just hang around for a while!

Often you will find Deanie performing at Lowbrows, The Garage Door Theater, or over at the American Legion. While serious about her music she has a relaxed, unpretentious style. Her spirit on the stage clams you internally even if you're tapping your toe to the beat. Deanie will be the first to tell you that she is passionate. "Passionate about God, family, her country, community and of course, music," says Deanie.

Personally, I don't think Deanie has ever met a stranger. Her easy going, sink down deep in the couch style conversations, allows her to genuinely listen. Her ability to of presence may very well be how she writes such moving lyrics.

Often, she is one of the first to speak up when a cause needs attention. The combination of compassion and talent allows her to use her music to draw attention to serious platforms such as human trafficking. Instead of sitting quietly she lends her voice to heated issues. And what a voice it is!

As an accomplished songwriter and performer, in most cases she draws her inspiration from the little things in life. After a while these small moments stir around inside her until they bloom into inspiration for a song. As you listen to her music, you will find her body of work encompasses a wide variety of emotions, feelings and situations. However, the common thread in all of her music is the passion that exudes out in each song she records. Great lyrics are often found just by paying attention to the condition of being human.

If you are looking for a great way to spend your evening you don't need to go far. Just find out where Deanie Deal is playing! Currently you can find her playing with her duo partner Dave Hollowell in their band Tin Suitcase on the first and last Thursday night each month at the American Legion, located at 905 Foundation Drive in Pilot Point.

Deanie's freshman album, Giant was produced in 2012. Since then, she has released "Second Chances", "Girls & Grit", "Little Tin Suitcase" and her latest CD "Choices, Chances & Change" by For Chics & A Cause; a project to help bring awareness to the epidemic of human trafficking. This CD was a collaborative with original songs from Teresa Arnold, Shelley Justine, Robin Hackett and Deanie Deal.

PILOT POINT'S BONNIE AND CLYDE DAYS: OCTOBER 12

ALL-DAY FESTIVAL CELEBRATES "THE DAY HOLLYWOOD CAME TO TOWN"

ABOUT

In the fall of 1966, North Texas was invaded by Bonnie and Clyde. Not the real Bonnie and Clyde, who had previously terrorized the area with their crime spree in the 1930's, but rather, Hollywood's Bonnie and Clyde: Warren Beatty and Faye Dunaway along with supporting actors (Michael J. Pollard, Gene Hackman and Estelle Parsons), film crew and director Arthur Penn.

THE FILMING OF BONNIE AND CLYDE. Several towns in North Texas were used to capture the authentic look and feel of towns throughout the South and Midwest where the Barrow gang had perpetrated their years-long crime spree: Pilot Point, Waxahachie, Lavon, Red Oak, Garland, Ponder and Maypearl.

Pilot Point's Farmers and Merchant's Bank was used for the film's "bank robbery scene". News reports at the time report that several locals were hired on as extras. Local extras included relatives of Mayor George Hilz (his 11-year-old daughter Karen Hilz and nephew 14-year-old Michael Hilz), and Mrs. Harold Smith (wife of then Chamber of Commerce President). North Texas State University's custodian Dee Ray Jones was hired as an extra in the bank robbery scene because his haircut matched the 1930's style. He can be seen walking from the rear of the bank, looking through the bank teller's window, and raising his hands.

THE MOVIE'S DEBUT. The film debuted in 1967 to mixed reviews, but eventually became a box-office smash. By year's end the film had grossed $23 million in US release, becoming the studio's second highest-grossing film of all time, right behind My Fair Lady. The movie garnered two Academy Award Oscars: Best Supporting Actress (Estelle Parsons) and Best Cinematography. With its unprecedented blend of drama, romance, comedy and action, the provocative and controversial film's style was unusual at the time.

The movie changed the way violence was filmed and depicted on screen. "More or less before 1967, getting shot was a tidy event. Now sachets of blood and small powder charges sewn into clothes would become part of a film's resources …" reports The Guardian.

AREA CRIME-SPREE CONNECTIONS: Local legend has long held that somewhere in the Pilot Point area Barrow's relatives gave safe haven to the fugitives, who were spotted often throughout north Texas. Newspaper reports show that Clyde Barrow was briefly incarcerated in the Denton jail in 1930 in connection with the burglary of the Motor Mark Garage. Barrow was transferred to the McLennan County jail in Waco, where Barrow accomplices Turner and Abernathy were being held after sentencing, and the trio escaped after Bonnie allegedly smuggled weapons into the jail.

Get to Know Jarrod Morris

Dave Smith Productions,
information provided by JarrodMorrisMusic.com

Jarrod was born in Largo, Florida on March 25, 1991. At the age of seven, his family moved to the small town of Decatur, Texas. There he enjoyed the benefits of small town life, even though he didn't appreciate them at the time.

Growing up he moved to several different schools and met lots of different people which had a positive impact on his world view. Jarrod is honest and calls it like he sees it. Sometimes, he says, to a fault. All his songs are about his life and are authentic.

He wants his music to be relateable and relevant to people. Jarrod has lived in big cities and small towns alike.

Having experience in both ends of the spectrum gives him a broader life experience, which translates to his music. However, ask him where he' d rather be now, and he'll answer a small town.

Meet the Author, Lori Walter

Power of Posture

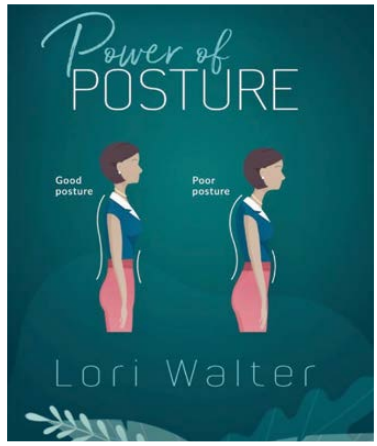
Stretch 4 Life is hosting an exciting book signing party for a new book by Lori Walter, Power of Posture. The event is designed around the theme of promoting literacy at the local level.

Everyone is invited to attend this upscale event. It will be held at the Aubrey Public Library located at 226 Countryside Dr. Aubrey, Texas 76227 on Friday, September 20, 2019 from 7:00 p.m. until 9:00 p.m. It is a come and go evening, so you can drop in or stay for the entire time. It will be a Red Carpet Event so get gussied up and bring your best companion. The party will provide a way to either purchase one of Walter's books or to win a free book that will be donated!

Walter's new book also has an app that is a companion to the training of brain and neurotransmitters.



The exciting new version of Walter's original app will also guide each user toward their postural position that will enhance connections between brain and body allowing the emotional power and the mental power to infuse the best messages of healing and well-being throughout our systems. The stretches that have been the cornerstone of healing at Stretch 4 Life from the original app once again will play a significant roll in this app, as well. "The wonderful creative team for my app are to be congratulated once again for being fearless," said Walter.

"The book is a 365 daily devotional to bring together the words of wisdom and the healing power of morality and discipline. The laws and status are the most powerful tools of healing for our immune system," said Walter, "The app highlights each neuro connection that has to be reestablished for the brain to be completely transformed into postural alignment."

To help the body escape the bondage of fear and pride. To use the words of one of the current best-selling books in the areas of history, science, and the human condition just to mention a few of its insightful parts. The commentary that is the writer's contributions is meant to focus on these insightful words toward the aspects of the brain becoming more integrated into the immune system which is controlled by the nervous system.

We all read body language in every person we know. We observe if someone is emotional or sick by the look and appearance of their body. This becomes the normal posture for most people if they stay locked in a cycle of emotional energy for a period of time. The body language lasts longer than the original event but it takes apart our immune system. As a long time practitioner, I have made a long term study of connecting the internal struggle with the exterior posture presentation. It is easy to come quickly to the recognition that how we communicate our need to share burdens is carried on our shelves. The questions is how do we help and who we turn to if someone seems stuck in a loop. All these questions will be answered in this study.

Along with the study guide on the app there will also be Power of Posture in a paperback book or eBook format of daily homework. The app, which will include daily audio files, learning videos on the nervous system, as well as stretches to encourage the body language to lineup with the emotional language, will include a weekly session with a Wellness Life Coach for six one hour sessions via email.

What the brain can conceive the body can do!

To RSVP call and leave a brief message about the number of your party that will be attending. Also, if you would like to hold a book signing event to help raise money for literacy in your area please feel free to send Lori Walter a message on my phone 940-591-6491 or email stretch4lifeclinic@gmail.com

SINGLETON FARMS

Local Farmers Market and Kitchen

If you are looking for delicious grass feed and grass finished Heritage beef, look no more. This flavorful beef along with pastured pork, chicken and lamb can be found at Pilot Point's very own Singleton Farms. The farm is located at 1900 North Saint James Road. While a little tucked away, once you find it, you will make it part of your regular stomping grounds. This little piece of paradise is worked by three generations of farmers.

Come out and meet Lisa and Andy Singleton and get to know more about their exceptional products. At the farm you will find seasonal produce, local honey, pastured eggs, jams, jellies, sauces, desserts, baked goods, as well as fresh bread and butter. They also offer gourmet balsamic vinegars, specialty oils, artisan foods and several other unique and fresh items.

If you heard they have a country kitchen, you heard right! Treat yourself and your family to a nourishing homemade breakfast or lunch Friday through Sunday. While you are enjoying your meal at Singleton Farms, the friendly atmosphere and tempting aromas in the air present a comfort level that makes you feel right at home! If you prefer, you can dine inside but they now have finished their new outdoor seating with a serine view of the farm.

With day to day life we often get busy. On the days that you have a tight schedule juggling work, school and other daily activates meal planning and cooking can sometime be overwhelming. Let Singleton Farms take that off your plate and make it easy to fill yours! You can still serve your family a yummy and nutritious meal around your home table with scrumptious heat-n-eat meals and desserts in their grab and go freezer.

Besides wonderful and organic food, Singleton Farms offers fun for the whole family! Farm and garden tours, plus educational interactions are available. A favorite for many is feeding and petting the large and small animals.

Construction is underway on their 22,000 gallon rainwater collection system. Singleton Farms will be the third location in the great state of Texas to harvest and sell filtered rainwater, and the very first in Texas to sell rainwater ice! Swing by and let Andy talk you through the process and tell you why rainwater is so important to Singleton Farm's market, kitchen and farm as they continue sustainable agriculture practices.

Drop in and check out one of Pilot Point's cool destinations. Lisa and Andy are looking forward to meeting you!
